Grafiprint Laminates

Grafiprint laminates are especially developed for protecting digital prints.

.... for outdoor use

Regular exposure to sunlight has a very adverse effect on digital images. That is why they require a high quality laminate with a UV-block to protect them against the influences of UV rays, and which doesn't come off the inkjet material.

.... for indoor use

For indoor applications the UV-block is less important. The laminates used for this application should mainly offer good protection against chemical products, humidity, dirt and fingerprints.

Images that need to be applied as floor graphics require a good protection against a high level of wear. To protect these images a highly durable laminate with a special antiskid coating is essential. The Grafiprint Floorgraphics and SOL laminates are ideal for these applications.
